

A photograph of a modern building's exterior at night. The building features a balcony with a dark metal railing system. The railing has horizontal bars and a dark frame. The building's facade is composed of vertical wooden slats. Two warm, yellow lights are mounted on the wall to the right of the balcony, casting a glow. The balcony floor is made of light-colored wooden planks. The overall scene is illuminated by the building's lights and the ambient night light.
